MailART Online

fresh, cool berichtet das mailART online journal aus Graz,

In her work as a performance artist Anna Banana aims to eradicate the division between audience and performer, and to creatively involve the audience/public, directly in the action. To this end, she creates inter-active parodies of well known forms, using humor as the "active ingredient" to ensure participation. Anna is available to present any of her previously produced events or she will create a new, site-specific one for your circumstance, festival, or event.

The larger, more structured events like the Banana Olympics take three months to produce, while smaller, less structured ones can be created in a week or two, and some are "ready to serve" on demand.

ANNA BANANA http://mypage.uniserve.ca/~a_banana

Anna has been creating mail art, artistamps, performance art and events since the early 1970's, and brings to her overview of these contemporary art practices, stories of her personal involvements and experiences. Through her mail-art exchanges, she has amassed a huge archive of works by others in the International Mail-Art Network, from which she draws the examples in her slides. Slides and video clips from her events and performances punctuate her commentary on this field of creative endeavor. These talks can be presented as a single-evening, a day-long event, or up to a 5 day, in-depth review of all three fields; or in combination with the workshops below.
